Directions (12-13): Read the following passage carefully and write a precis of it with a suitable title.

12. Social media platforms have become an integral part of daily life for many individuals, providing a space for communication, self-expression, and entertainment. However, their constant notifications and endless scrolling features have been linked to reduced attention span and lower productivity. Many students and professionals report spending hours on these platforms, often at the expense of completing important tasks. While social media can serve educational and networking purposes, overuse without control can hamper focus and time management. 3

13. The COVID-19 pandemic forced educational institutions worldwide to adopt online learning as the primary mode of instruction. Initially challenging, this shift gradually led to innovation in digital teaching methods, such as virtual classrooms, recorded lectures, and online assessments. Despite some drawbacks like reduced interaction and access inequality, many students and educators began appreciating the flexibility and convenience of online education. As normalcy returns, a hybrid model combining both online and offline learning is gaining popularity. 3
